SECRET

The History Staff has a variegated collection of information on Agency personnel and activities, most of it pre-dating 1965. Some years ago, histories were written on a number of the field stations. The coverage and quality of these histories is spotty, but they often contain good information on the stations and on the local political situation and operating climate over the years. They are generally held in the front office of the DDO Division involved, with a back-up copy in the History Staff. The Staff also has other reference aids with which they may be able to help you check leads. The History Staff is located at 316 Ames, and can be contacted on [redacted] While their resources are limited, it's worth a shot as a last resort. They are quite willing to be of assistance.

History Staff - Several years ago, History Staff prepared histories of many of our field stations. These histories contain information on the stations' personnel and activities, as well as on the local political situation and operating climate over the years. All of the information in the histories pre-dates 1965. The histories are generally held in the front office of the DDO area division in which the station is located. However, if the division front office cannot locate a copy of a history or is not sure a history exists for the station you are interested in, contact History Staff on The Staff is located in 316 Ames Building. As a last resort on a lead which pre-dates 1965, you may wish to contact them and ask them to check their other holdings, which include items such as chronologies of PCS assignments. While their resources are limited, it's worth a shot, participarly if all else fails. They are quite willing to be of assistance.
